

Important information regarding variations to training contracts

The parties to a training contract may vary a training contract, subject to approval by the Apprenticeship Office. All parties should agree to the details of a variation before a party gives notice to the Apprenticeship Office. The variation comes into effect only when the Apprenticeship Office approves the variation.

To give notice:

- the parties must agree to the proposed variation;
- a party should complete the attached form;
- the employer and/or apprentice* (and parent/guardian if applicable) should sign the form before submitting it to the Apprenticeship Office at apprenticeshipoffice@dtwd.wa.gov.au.

Please note: at least one party is required to sign the attached form to effect the variation.

The variation form can be used to apply to vary any or all of the following details of the training contract.

- The qualification and trade to which the contract relates. The nominal term of your contract may vary as a result of this change, if applicable. (Please note: you must state the intended occupation during the training contract).
- The nominated training provider.
- The employment type (for example, full time, part time or school-based). The nominal term of your contract may vary as a result of this change, if applicable.
- The employment arrangement that governs the employment of the apprentice.
- Any other details of the training contract.

This form should not be used for the following:

- to vary the nominal term for the Metals trades apprenticeship, as the applicable nominal term is specified in the relevant award;
- to extend/suspend/terminate a training contract; or
- to assign (transfer) a training contract to another employer.

Alternatives to varying the training contract

Your AASN provider offers support throughout the life of the training contract to the parties and also provides job matching services. The term 'apprentice' covers apprentices, trainees, cadets and interns.*
